You need to put Jerry Begly on your bucket list of people to meet. Funny, unpredictable, with a never ending wit, Jerry will have you doing anything from double-takes, to spitting milk out your nose.

In his most recent project, “Dad, the Tooth Fairy Didn’t Come!” Jerry unleashes the power of money on the confused, struggling children of a growing family.

Always looking at life from the perspective of a cartoonist, Jerry will put your project on a level that’s hard to duplicate.

Available for book illustrations and speaking engagements

“Don’t laugh so hard. You’ll spit that milk out your nose!”

Born in Goshen, IN to a family of 8, Jerry had to fight to be the “middle child”. His mother, Marie, always got the spotlight with her six children and wry comments. Jerry soon figured out that people would laugh and notice he was sitting in the middle of a pile of kids if he made some wry comment to restaurant waitstaff. Comments like “What’s are hors d’oeuvres?” or “Eight of us? That’s us, one big happy family!”

Jerry’s school teachers recognized his need to be recognized, and would pull him out of class so he would stop drawing silly pictures on his handouts, and instead, draw silly picture for them to put into the yearbook, band programs, and anything else that needed the “Begly touch”.

Drawing cartoons became more than a passion for Jerry, and he began freelance cartooning in 1979. Since then, he has illustrated everything from Government posters, to pop culture items.

Jerry, and his family live in Marble, Colorado where they share their porch with friends, family, and an occasional lost sheep.
